Electronic Fund Transfer Act\(^1\)

The Electronic Fund Transfer Act (EFTA) (15 U.S.C. 1693 et seq.) of 1978 is intended to protect individual consumers engaging in electronic fund transfers (EFTs). EFT services include transfers through automated teller machines, point-of-sale terminals, automated clearinghouse systems, telephone bill-payment plans in which periodic or recurring transfers are contemplated, and remote banking programs. The EFTA is implemented through Regulation E, which includes an official staff commentary.

In 2009, the Federal Reserve Board amended Regulation E to prohibit institutions from charging overdraft fees for ATM and point of sale (POS) transactions unless the consumer affirmatively consents (74 Fed. Reg. 59033 (Nov. 17, 2009) and 75 Fed. Reg. 31665 (June 4, 2010)). The Board also amended Regulation E to restrict fees and expiration dates on gift cards, and to require that gift card terms be clearly stated. (75 Fed. Reg. 16580 (April 1, 2010)).\(^2\)

The Dodd-Frank Act transferred rule-making authority under the EFTA from the Federal Reserve Board to the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) and, with respect to entities under its jurisdiction, granted authority to the CFPB to supervise and enforce compliance with EFTA and its implementing regulations.\(^3\) In December 2011, the CFPB restated the Federal Reserve’s implementing regulation at 12 CFR Part 1005 (76 Fed. Reg. 81020) (December 27, 2011). In February 2012, the CFPB amended Regulation E to provide protections, including disclosures and error resolution and cancellation rights, to consumers who send remittance transfers to other consumers or businesses in a foreign country (77 Fed. Reg. 6194 (Feb. 7, 2012)).\(^4\) These amendments implement statutory requirements of the Dodd-Frank Act.

\(^1\) These reflect FFIEC-approved procedures.

\(^2\) The Board also implemented a legislative extension of time for complying with the gift card disclosure requirements until January 31, 2011. 75 Fed. Reg. 50683 (August 17, 2010).

\(^3\) Dodd-Frank Act Secs. 1002(12)(C), 1024(b)-(c), and 1025(b)-(c); 12 U.S.C. Secs. 5481(12)(C), 5514(c), and 5515(c). Section 1029 of the Dodd-Frank Act generally excludes from this transfer of authority, subject to certain exceptions, any rulemaking authority over a motor vehicle dealer that is predominantly engaged in the sale and servicing of motor vehicles, the leasing and servicing of motor vehicles, or both. The transfer of authority also did not include section 920 of EFTA, which concerns debit card interchange fees charged to merchants. Section 920 of EFTA is implemented by Board regulations at 12 CFR Part 235. Section 920 is not addressed here or in the accompanying examination procedures and checklist.

\(^4\) The CFPB is working with the prudential regulators to update the examination procedures to reflect these rules, which take effect February 7, 2013, in a uniform manner as appropriate.
To help clarify the requirements of Regulation E, the following background information does not strictly follow the order of the regulatory text, but rather it is presented in the following order:

I. Scope

Key Definitions

Access device is a card, code, or other means of access to a consumer’s account or a combination of these used by the consumer to initiate EFTs. Access devices include debit cards, personal identification numbers (PINs), telephone transfer and telephone bill payment codes, and other means to initiate an EFT to or from a consumer account (12 CFR 1005.2(a)(1) and 12 CFR Part 1005, Supp.1, Comment 1005.2(a)-1).

Access devices do not include either of the following:

- Magnetic tape or other devices used internally by a financial institution to initiate electronic transfers.
- A check or draft used to capture the MICR (Magnetic Ink Character Recognition) encoding or routing, account, and serial numbers to initiate a one-time ACH debit (Comments 1005.2(a)-1 and -2).

Accepted access device is an access device that a consumer:

- Requests and receives, signs, or uses (or authorizes another to use) to transfer money between accounts or to obtain money, property, or services.
- Requests to be validated even if it was issued on an unsolicited basis.
Receives as a renewal or substitute for an accepted access device from either the financial institution that initially issued the device or a successor (12 CFR 1005.2(a)(2)).

Account includes the following:

- Checking, savings, or other consumer asset account held by a financial institution (directly or indirectly), including certain club accounts, established primarily for personal, family, or household purposes.

- Payroll card account, established through an employer (directly or indirectly), to which EFTs of the consumer’s wages, salary, or other employee compensation (such as commissions), are made on a recurring basis. The payroll card account can be operated or managed by the employer, a third-party processor, a depository institution, or any other person. All transactions involving the transfer of funds to or from a payroll card account are covered by the regulation (12 CFR 1005.2(b)(2) and Comment 1005.2(b)-2).

An account does not include:

- An account held by a financial institution under a bona fide trust agreement.

- An occasional or incidental credit balance in a credit plan.

- Profit-sharing and pension accounts established under a bona fide trust agreement.

- Escrow accounts such as for payments of real estate taxes, insurance premiums, or completion of repairs.

- Accounts for purchasing U.S. savings bonds (12 CFR 1005.2(b)(3) and Comment1005.2(b)-3).

A payroll card account does not include a card used:

- Solely to disburse incentive-based payments (other than commissions when they represent the primary means through which a consumer is paid) that are unlikely to be a consumer’s primary source of salary or other compensation;

- Solely to make disbursements unrelated to compensation, such as petty cash reimbursements or travel per diem payments; or

- In isolated instances to which an employer typically does not make recurring payments (Comment 1005.2(b)-2).

Activity means any action that results in an increase or decrease of the funds underlying a certificate or card, other than the imposition of a fee, or an adjustment due to an error or a reversal of a prior transaction. (12 CFR 1005.20(a)(7)).

ATM operator is any person that operates an ATM at which a consumer initiates an EFT or a balance inquiry and that does not hold the account to or from which the transfer is made or about which the inquiry is made (12 CFR 1005.16(a)).
Dormancy fee and inactivity fee mean a fee for non-use of or inactivity on a gift certificate, store gift card, or general-use prepaid card. (12 CFR 1005.20(a)(5)).

Electronic check conversion (ECK) transactions are transactions where a check, draft, or similar paper instrument is used as a source of information to initiate a one-time electronic fund transfer from a consumer’s account. The consumer must authorize the transfer. (12 CFR 1005.3(b)(2))

Electronic fund transfer (EFT) is a transfer of funds initiated through an electronic terminal, telephone, computer (including on-line banking) or magnetic tape for the purpose of ordering, instructing, or authorizing a financial institution to debit or credit a consumer’s account. EFTs include, but are not limited to, point-of-sale (POS) transfers; automated teller machine (ATM) transfers; direct deposits or withdrawals of funds; transfers initiated by telephone; and transfers resulting from debit card transactions, whether or not initiated through an electronic terminal (12 CFR 1005.3(b)).

Electronic terminal is an electronic device, other than a telephone call by a consumer, through which a consumer may initiate an EFT. The term includes, but is not limited to, point-of-sale terminals, automated teller machines, and cash-dispensing machines (12 CFR 1005.2(h)).

Exclusions from gift card definition. The following cards, codes, or other devices are excluded and not subject to the substantive restrictions on imposing dormancy, inactivity, or service fees, or on expiration dates if they are: (12 CFR 1005.20(b))

- Useable solely for telephone services;
- Reloadable and not marketed or labeled as a gift card or gift certificate. For purposes of this exception, the term “reloadable” includes a temporary non-reloadable card issued solely in connection with a reloadable card, code, or other device;
- A loyalty, award, or promotional gift card (except that these must disclose on the card or device itself, information such as the date the funds expire, fee information and a toll-free number) (12 CFR 1005.20(a)(4) and (c)(4));
- Not marketed to the general public;
- Issued in paper form only; or
- Redeemable solely for admission to events or venues at a particular location or group of affiliated locations, or to obtain goods or services in conjunction with admission to such events or venues, at the event or venue or at specific locations affiliated with and in geographic proximity to the event or venue.
General-use prepaid card is a card, code, or other device:

- Issued on a prepaid basis primarily for personal, family, or household purposes to a consumer in a specified amount, whether or not that amount may be increased or reloaded, in exchange for payment; and

- That is redeemable upon presentation at multiple, unaffiliated merchants for goods or services, or that may be usable at automated teller machines. (12 CFR 1005.20(a)(3)). See “Exclusions from gift card definition.”

Gift certificate is a card, code, or other device issued on a prepaid basis primarily for personal, family, or household purposes to a consumer in a specified amount that may not be increased or reloaded in exchange for payment and redeemable upon presentation at a single merchant or an affiliated group of merchants for goods or services. (12 CFR 1005.20(a)(1)). See “Exclusions from gift card definition.”

Loyalty, award, or promotional gift card is a card, code, or other device (1) issued on a prepaid basis primarily for personal, family, or household purposes to a consumer in connection with a loyalty, award, or promotional program; (2) that is redeemable upon presentation at one or more merchants for goods or services, or usable at automated teller machines; and (3) that sets forth certain disclosures, including a statement indicating that the card, code, or other device is issued for loyalty, award, or promotional purposes. (12 CFR 1005.20(a)(4)) See “Exclusions from gift card definition.”

Overdraft Services. A financial institution provides an overdraft service if it assesses a fee or charge for paying a transaction (including a check or other item) when the consumer has insufficient or unavailable funds in the account to pay the transaction. However, an overdraft service does not include payments made from the following:

- A line of credit subject to Regulation Z, such as a credit card account, a home equity line of credit, or an overdraft line of credit;

- Funds transferred from another account held individually or jointly by the consumer; or

- A line of credit or other transaction from a securities or commodities account held by a broker-dealer registered with the Securities Exchange Commission (SEC) or the Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC). (12 CFR 1005.17(a))

Preauthorized electronic fund transfer is an EFT authorized in advance to recur at substantially regular intervals (12 CFR 1005.2(k)).

Service fee means a periodic fee for holding or use of a gift certificate, store gift card, or general-use prepaid card. A periodic fee includes any fee that may be imposed on a gift certificate, store gift card, or general-use prepaid card from time to time for holding or using the certificate or card. (12 CFR 1005.20(a)(6)). For example, a service fee may include a monthly maintenance fee, a transaction fee, an ATM fee, a reload fee, a foreign currency transaction fee, or a balance inquiry fee, whether or not the fee is waived for a certain period of time or is only imposed after a certain period of time. However, a service fee does not include a one-time fee or a fee that is unlikely to be imposed more than once while the underlying funds are still valid, such as an initial issuance fee, a cash-out fee, a supplemental card fee, or a lost or stolen certificate or card replacement fee. (Comment 1005.20(a)(6)-1)

Store gift card is a card, code, or other device issued on a prepaid basis primarily for personal, family, or household purposes to a consumer in a specified amount, whether or not that amount may be increased or reloaded, in exchange for payment, and redeemable upon presentation at a single merchant or an affiliated group of merchants for goods or services. (12 CFR 1005.20(a)(2)). See “Exclusions from gift card definition.”

Unauthorized electronic fund transfer is an EFT from a consumer’s account initiated by a person other than the consumer without authority to initiate the transfer and from which the consumer receives no benefit. This does not include an EFT initiated in any of the following ways:

- By a person who was furnished the access device to the consumer’s account by the consumer, unless the consumer has notified the financial institution that transfers by that person are no longer authorized;

- With fraudulent intent by the consumer or any person acting in concert with the consumer; or

- By the financial institution or its employee (12 CFR 1005.2(m)).

Coverage – 12 CFR 1005.3

The requirements of Regulation E apply only to accounts for which there is an agreement for EFT services to or from the account between (i) the consumer and the financial institution or (ii) the consumer and a third party, when the account-holding financial institution has received notice of the agreement and the fund transfers have begun (Comment 1005.3(a)-1).

Regulation E applies to all persons, including offices of foreign financial institutions in the United States, that offer EFT services to residents of any state and covers any account located in the United States through which EFTs are offered to a resident of a state, no matter where a particular transfer occurs or where the financial institution is chartered (Comment 1005.3(a)-3). Regulation E does not apply to a foreign branch of a U.S. financial institution unless the EFT services are offered in connection with an account in a state, as defined in 12 CFR 1005.2(l) (Comment 1005.3(a)-3).

5 State means any state, territory, or possession of the United States; the District of Columbia; the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico; or any of their political subdivisions. 12 CFR 1005.2(l).
Exclusions from Coverage. Section 1005.3(c) of Regulation E describes transfers that are not EFTs and are therefore not covered by the EFTA and Regulation E:

- Transfers of funds originated by check, draft, or similar paper instrument;
- Check guarantee or authorization services that do not directly result in a debit or credit to a consumer’s account;
- Any transfer of funds for a consumer within a system that is used primarily to transfer funds between financial institutions or businesses, e.g., Fedwire or other similar network;
- Any transfer of funds which has as its primary purpose the purchase or sale of securities or commodities regulated by the SEC or the CFTC, purchased or sold through a broker-dealer regulated by the SEC or through a futures commission merchant regulated by the CFTC, or held in book-entry form by a Federal Reserve Bank or federal agency;
- Intra-institutional automatic transfers under an agreement between a consumer and a financial institution;
- Transfers initiated by telephone between a consumer and a financial institution provided the transfer is not a function of a written plan contemplating periodic or recurring transfers. A written statement available to the public, such as a brochure, that describes a service allowing a consumer to initiate transfers by telephone constitutes a written plan; or
- Preauthorized transfers to or from accounts at financial institutions with assets of less than $100 million on the preceding December 31. Such preauthorized transfers, however, remain subject to the compulsory use prohibition under Section 913 of the EFTA and 12 CFR 1005.10(e), as well as the civil and criminal liability provisions of Sections 915 and 916 of the EFTA. A small financial institution that provides EFT services besides preauthorized transfers must comply with the Regulation E requirements for those other services (Comment 1005.3(c)(7)-1). For example, a small financial institution that offers ATM services must comply with Regulation E in regard to the issuance of debit cards, terminal receipts, periodic statements, and other requirements.

Electronic Check Conversion (ECK) and Collection of Returned-Item Fees. Regulation E covers electronic check conversion (ECK) transactions. In an ECK transaction, a consumer provides a check to a payee and information from the check is used to initiate a one-time EFT from the consumer’s account. Although transfers originated by checks are not covered by Regulation E, an ECK is treated as an EFT and not a payment originated by check. Payees must obtain the consumer’s authorization for each ECK transaction. A consumer authorizes a one-time EFT for an ECK transaction when the consumer receives notice that the transaction will or may be processed as an EFT and goes forward with the underlying transaction\(^6\) (12 CFR 1005.3(b)(2)(i) and (ii) and Comment 1005.3(b)(2)-3).

If a payee re-presents electronically a check that has been returned unpaid, the transaction is not an EFT, and Regulation E does not apply because the transaction originated by check (Comment 1005.3(c)(1)-1)).

However, Regulation E applies to a fee collected electronically from a consumer’s account for a check or EFT returned unpaid. A consumer authorizes a one-time EFT from the consumer’s account to pay the fee for the returned item or transfer if the person collecting the fee provides notice to the consumer stating the amount of the fee and that the person may electronically collect the fee, and the consumer goes forward with the underlying transaction\(^7\) (12 CFR 1005.3(b)(3))). These authorization requirements do not apply to fees imposed by the account-holding financial institution for returning the check or EFT or paying the amount of an overdraft (Comment 1005.3(b)(3)-1)).

II. Disclosures

Disclosures Generally – 12 CFR 1005.4

Required disclosures must be clear and readily understandable, in writing, and in a form the consumer may keep. The required disclosures may be provided to the consumer in electronic form, if the consumer affirmatively consents after receiving a notice that complies with the E-Sign Act (12 CFR 1005.4(a)(1)).

Disclosures may be made in a language other than English, if the disclosures are made available in English upon the consumer’s request (12 CFR 1005.4(a)(2)).

A financial institution has the option of disclosing additional information and combining disclosures required by other laws (for example, Truth in Lending disclosures) with Regulation E disclosures (12 CFR 1005.4(b)).

A financial institution may combine required disclosures into a single statement if a consumer holds two or more accounts at the financial institution. Thus, a single periodic statement or error resolution notice is sufficient for multiple accounts. In addition, it is only necessary for a financial institution to provide one set of disclosures for a joint account (12 CFR 1005.4(c)(1) and (2)).

Two or more financial institutions that jointly provide EFT services may contract among themselves to meet the requirements that the regulation imposes on any or all of them. When making initial disclosures (see 12 CFR 1005.7) and disclosures of a change in terms or an error

\(^{6}\) For POS transactions, the notice must be posted in a prominent and conspicuous location and a copy of the notice must be provided to the consumer at the time of the transaction (12 CFR 1005.3(b)(2)(i) and (ii) and Comment 1005.3(b)(2)-3).

\(^{7}\) For POS transactions, the notice must be posted in a prominent and conspicuous location and a copy of the notice must either be provided to the consumer at the time of the transaction or mailed to the consumer’s address as soon as reasonably practicable after the person initiates the EFT to collect the fee (12 CFR 1005.3(b)(3))).
resolution notice (see 12 CFR 1005.8), a financial institution in a shared system only needs to make disclosures that are within its knowledge and apply to its relationship with the consumer for whom it holds an account (12 CFR 1005.4(d)).

Initial Disclosure of Terms and Conditions – 12 CFR 1005.7

Financial institutions must provide initial disclosures of the terms and conditions of EFT services before the first EFT is made or at the time the consumer contracts for an EFT service. They must give a summary of various consumer rights under the regulation, including the consumer’s liability for unauthorized EFTs, the types of EFTs the consumer may make, limits on the frequency or dollar amount, fees charged by the financial institution, and the error-resolution procedures. Appendix A to 12 CFR Part 1005 provides model clauses that financial institutions may use to provide the disclosures.

Timing of Disclosures. Financial institutions must make the required disclosures at the time a consumer contracts for an electronic fund transfer service or before the first electronic fund transfer is made involving the consumer’s account (12 CFR 1005.7(a)).

Disclosures given by a financial institution earlier than the regulation requires (for example, when the consumer opens a checking account) need not be repeated when the consumer later authorizes an electronic check conversion or agrees with a third party to initiate preauthorized transfers to or from the consumer’s account, unless the terms and conditions differ from the previously disclosed term. This interpretation also applies to any notice provided about one-time EFTs from a consumer’s account initiated using information from the consumer’s check. On the other hand, if an agreement for EFT services to be provided by an account-holding financial institution is directly between the consumer and the account-holding financial institution, disclosures must be given in close proximity to the event requiring disclosure, for example, when the consumer contracts for a new service (Comment 1005.7(a)-1).

Where a consumer authorizes a third party to debit or credit the consumer’s account, an account-holding financial institution that has not received advance notice of the transfer or transfers must provide the required disclosures as soon as reasonably possible after the first debit or credit is made, unless the financial institution has previously given the disclosures (Comment 1005.7(a)-2).

If a consumer opens a new account permitting EFTs at a financial institution, and the consumer has already received Regulation E disclosures for another account at that financial institution, the financial institution need only disclose terms and conditions that differ from those previously given (Comment 1005.7(a)-3).

If a financial institution joins an interchange or shared network system (which provides access to terminals operated by other financial institutions), disclosures are required for additional EFT services not previously available to consumers if the terms and conditions differ from those previously disclosed (Comment 1005.7(a)-4).

A financial institution may provide disclosures covering all EFT services that it offers, even if some consumers have not arranged to use all services (Comment 1005.7(a)-5).
Addition of EFT Services. A financial institution must make disclosures for any new EFT service added to a consumer’s account if the terms and conditions are different from those described in the initial disclosures. ECK transactions may be a new type of transfer requiring new disclosures (See Appendix A-2 and Comment 1005.7(c)-1).

Content of Disclosures. 12 CFR 1005.7(b) requires a financial institution to provide the following disclosures as they apply:

- Liability of consumers for unauthorized electronic fund transfers. The financial institution must include a summary of the consumer’s liability (under 12 CFR 1005.6, state law, or other applicable law or agreement) for unauthorized transfers (12 CFR 1005.7(b)(1)). A financial institution does not need to provide the liability disclosures if it imposes no liability. If it later decides to impose liability, it must first provide the disclosures (Comment 1005.7(b)(1)-1). The financial institution can choose to include advice on promptly reporting unauthorized transfers or the loss or theft of the access device (Comment 1005.7(b)(1)-3).

- Telephone number and address. A financial institution must provide a specific telephone number and address, on or with the disclosure statement, for reporting a lost or stolen access device or a possible unauthorized transfer (Comment 1005.7(b)(2)-2). Except for the telephone number and address for reporting a lost or stolen access device or a possible unauthorized transfer, the disclosure may insert a reference to a telephone number that is readily available to the consumer, such as “Call your branch office. The number is shown on your periodic statement.” (Comment1005.7(b)(2)-2).

- Business days. The financial institution’s business days (12 CFR 1005.7(b)(3)).

- Types of transfers; limitations on frequency or dollar amount. Limitations on the frequency and dollar amount of transfers generally must be disclosed in detail (12 CFR 1005.7(b)(4)). If the confidentiality of certain details is essential to the security of an account or system, these details may be withheld (but the fact that limitations exist must still be disclosed). 8 A limitation on account activity that restricts the consumer’s ability to make EFTs must be disclosed even if the restriction also applies to transfers made by non-electronic means. 9 Financial institutions are not required to list preauthorized transfers among the types of transfers that a consumer can make (Comment 1005.7(b)(4)-3). Financial institutions must disclose the fact that one-time EFTs initiated using information from a consumer’s check are among the types of transfers that a consumer can make (See Appendix A-2 and Comment 1005.7(b)(4)-4).

8 For example, if a financial institution limits cash ATM withdrawals to $100 per day, the financial institution may disclose that daily withdrawal limitations apply and need not disclose that the limitations may not always be in force (such as during periods when its ATMs are off-line) (Comment 1005.7(b)(4)-1).

9 For example, Regulation D (12 CFR 204) restricts the number of payments to third parties that may be made from a money market deposit account; a financial institution that does not execute fund transfers in excess of those limits must disclose the restriction as a limitation on the frequency of EFTs (Comment 1005.7(b)(4)-2).
Fees. A financial institution must disclose all fees for EFTs or for the right to make EFTs (12 CFR 1005.7(b)(5)). Other fees, for example, minimum-balance fees, stop-payment fees, account over drafts, or ATM inquiry fees, may, but need not, be disclosed under Regulation E (see Regulation DD, 12 CFR Part 1030) (Comment 1005.7(b)(5)-1). A per-item fee for EFTs must be disclosed even if the same fee is imposed on non-electronic transfers. If a per-item fee is imposed only under certain conditions, such as when the transactions in the cycle exceed a certain number, those conditions must be disclosed. Itemization of the various fees may be on the disclosure statement or on an accompanying document referenced in the statement (Comment 1005.7(b)(5)-2).

A financial institution must disclose that networks used to complete the EFT as well as an ATM operator, may charge a fee for an EFT or for balance inquiries (12 CFR 1005.7(b)(11)).

Documentation. A summary of the consumer’s right to receipts and periodic statements, as provided in 12 CFR 1005.9, and notices regarding preauthorized transfers as provided in 12 CFR 1005.10(a) and 1005.10(d) (12 CFR 1005.7(b)(6)).

Stop payment. A summary of the consumer’s right to stop payment of a preauthorized electronic fund transfer and the procedure for placing a stop-payment order, as provided in 12 CFR 1005.10(c) (12 CFR 1005.7(b)(7)).

Liability of institution. A summary of the financial institution’s liability to the consumer under Section 910 of the EFTA for failure to make or to stop certain transfers (12 CFR 1005.7(b)(8)).

Confidentiality. The circumstances under which, in the ordinary course of business, the financial institution may provide information concerning the consumer’s account to third parties (12 CFR 1005.7(b)(9)). A financial institution must describe the circumstances under which any information relating to an account to or from which EFTs are permitted will be made available to third parties, not just information concerning those EFTs. Third parties include other subsidiaries of the same holding company (Comment 1005.7(b)(9)-1).

Error Resolution. The error-resolution notice must be substantially similar to Model Form A-3 in Appendix A of Part 1005. A financial institution may use different wording so long as the substance of the notice remains the same, may delete inapplicable provisions (for example, the requirement for written confirmation of an oral notification), and may substitute substantive state law requirements affording greater consumer protection than Regulation E (Comment 1005.7(b)(10)-1). To take advantage of the longer time periods for resolving errors under 12 CFR 1005.11(c)(3) (for new accounts as defined in Regulation CC, transfers initiated outside the United States, or transfers resulting from POS debit card transactions), a financial institution must have disclosed these longer time periods. Similarly, a financial institution relying on the exception from provisional crediting in 12 CFR 1005.11(c)(2) for accounts relating to extensions of credit by securities brokers and dealers (Regulation T, 12 CFR Part 220) must disclose accordingly (Comment 1005.7(b)(10)-2).
Change in Terms; Error Resolution Notice – 12 CFR 1005.8

If a financial institution contemplates a change in terms, it must mail or deliver a written or electronic notice to the consumer at least 21 days before the effective date of any change in a term or condition required to be disclosed under 12 CFR 1005.7(b) if the change would result in any of the following:

- Increased fees or charges;
- Increased liability for the consumer;
- Fewer types of available EFTs; or
- Stricter limitations on the frequency or dollar amounts of transfers. (12 CFR 1005.8(a)(1)).

If an immediate change in terms or conditions is necessary to maintain or restore the security of an EFT system or account, the financial institution does not need to give prior notice. However, if the change is to be permanent, the financial institution must provide notice in writing of the change to the consumer on or with the next regularly scheduled periodic statement or within 30 days, unless disclosures would jeopardize the security of the system or account. (12 CFR 1005.8(a)(2)).

For accounts to or from which EFTs can be made, the financial institution must mail, deliver, or provide electronically to the consumer at least once each calendar year, the error resolution notice in 12 CFR 1005 Appendix A–Model Form A-3, or one substantially similar. Alternatively, the financial institution may include an abbreviated error resolution notice substantially similar to the notice set out in Appendix A (Model Form A-3) with each periodic statement (12 CFR 1005.8(b)).

Disclosures at Automated Teller Machines – 12 CFR 1005.16

An ATM operator that charges a fee is required to post notice that a fee will be imposed and disclose the amount of the fee. (12 CFR 1005.16(b)). Notices must be posted both (1) in a prominent and conspicuous location on or at the machine, and (2) on the screen or on a paper notice before the consumer is committed to paying a fee (12 CFR 1005.16(c)(1) and (2)). The fee may be imposed by the ATM operator only if: (1) the consumer is provided the required notices, and (2) the consumer elects to continue the transaction (12 CFR 1005.16(d)).

The “prominent and conspicuous notice” standard applies to notice posted on or at the ATM. The “clear and readily understandable standard” applies to the content of the notice. The requirement that the notice be in a retainable format only applies to printed notices (not those on the ATM screen) (12 CFR 1005.16(c)).
These fee disclosures are not required where a network owner is not charging a fee directly to the consumer (i.e., some network owners charge an interchange fee to financial institutions whose customers use the network) (Comment 1005.7(b)(5)-3). If the network practices change such that the network charges the consumer directly, these fee disclosure requirements would apply to the network. (12 CFR 1005.7(c)).

Overdraft Service Disclosures – 12 CFR 1005.17

Disclosure requirements for overdraft services are addressed in Section III of this document.

Gift Card Disclosures – 12 CFR 1005.20(c)

Disclosures must be clear and conspicuous and generally in a written or electronic form (except for certain pre-purchase disclosures, which may be given orally) that the consumer may retain. The fees and terms and conditions of expiration that are required to be disclosed prior to purchase may not be changed after purchase.

A number of disclosures must be made on the actual card. Making such disclosures in an accompanying terms and conditions document, on packaging surrounding a certificate or card, or on a sticker or other label affixed to the certificate or card does not constitute a disclosure on the certificate or card. Those disclosures include the following:

- The existence, amount, and frequency of any dormancy, inactivity, or service fee;
- The expiration date for the underlying funds (or the fact that the funds do not expire);
- A toll-free telephone number and (if any) a website that the consumer may use to obtain a replacement certificate or card if the certificate or card expires while underlying funds are still available;
- A statement that the certificate or card expires, but the underlying funds do not expire or expire later than the certificate or card, as well as a statement that the consumer may contact the issuer for a replacement card; and
- A toll-free telephone number and (if any) a website that the consumer may use to obtain information about fees.

Additional Disclosure Requirements Regarding Fees. In addition to the disclosure requirements related to dormancy, inactivity, or service fees, all other fees must be disclosed as well. These disclosures must be provided on or with the certificate or card and disclosed prior to purchase. The certificate or card must also disclose a toll-free telephone number and website, if one is maintained, that a consumer may use to obtain fee information or replacement certificates or cards. (12 CFR 1005.20(f)) 10 This requirement does not apply to non-reloadable certificates or cards that expire seven years or more after the date of manufacture.

Disclosure Requirements for Loyalty, Award, or Promotional Gift Cards (12 CFR 1005.20(a)(4)). To qualify for the exclusion for loyalty, award, or promotional gift cards, the following must be disclosed:

- A statement indicating that the card, code, or other device is issued for loyalty, award, or promotional purposes, which must be included on the front of the card, code, or other device;
- The expiration date for the underlying funds, which must be included on the front of the card, code, or other device;
- The amount of any fees that may be imposed in connection with the card, code, or other device, and the conditions under which they may be imposed, which must be provided on or with the card, code, or other device; and
- A toll-free telephone number and, if one is maintained, a website, that a consumer may use to obtain fee information, which must be included on the card, code, or other device.

Amendments to Regulation E were issued on August 11, 2010. The amendments implemented legislation that modified the effective date of certain disclosure and card expiration requirements in the gift card provisions of the Credit Card Accountability Responsibility and Disclosure Act of 2009 for cards produced prior to April 1, 2010.

The disclosures and card expiration requirements are:

1) Disclosures required to be made prior to purchase (see 12 CFR 1005.20(c)(3));

2) Disclosures that must be stated on the certificate or card regarding the fees and expiration dates (see 12 CFR 1005.20(d)(2), (e)(1) & (e)(3)); and

3) Disclosures that may be provided on or with the certificate or card (see 12 CFR 1005.20(f)).

Gift cards must comply with all other provisions of the gift card rule.

Issuers must make the following disclosures on in-store signs, messages during customer service calls, websites, and general advertising:

- The funds underlying the gift card do not expire;
- Consumers have the right to receive a free replacement card, along with the packaging and materials that typically accompany the gift card; and
- The issuer will charge dormancy, inactivity, or service fees only if the fee is permitted by the gift card rule.

The issuer must make the disclosures via customer service call center and website until January 31, 2013. See 12 CFR 1005.20(h).
III. Electronic Transaction Overdraft Services
Opt In – 12 CFR 1005.17

In recent years overdraft protection services have been extended to cover overdrafts resulting from non-check transactions, including ATM withdrawals, debit card transactions at point of sale, on-line transactions, preauthorized transfers, and ACH transactions. Generally, institutions charge a flat fee each time an overdraft is paid, although some institutions have a tiered fee structure and charge higher fees based on the amount of the negative balance at the end of the day or as the number of overdrafts increases. Institutions commonly charge the same amount for paying check and ACH overdrafts as they would if they returned the item unpaid. Some institutions also impose a fee for each day the account remains overdrawn. For debit card overdrafts, the dollar amount of the fee and multiple assessments can exceed the dollar amount of the overdrafts.

In 2005, the agencies issued guidance concerning the marketing, disclosure, and implementation of overdraft programs. The guidance also covers safety and soundness considerations, and establishes a number of best practices financial institutions should incorporate into their overdraft programs. The 2009 revisions to Regulation E supersede portions of the guidance related to ATM and one-time debit card overdraft transactions. However, in addition to the revised Regulation E requirements, an institution is advised to incorporate into its overdraft protection programs any guidance issued by its agency.

Section 1005.17 was added in the 2009 revision to Regulation E. It provides consumers with a choice to opt into their institution’s overdraft protection program and be charged a fee for overdrafts for ATM and one-time debit card transactions. It also requires disclosure of the fees and terms associated with the institution’s overdraft service. Before an institution may assess overdraft fees, the consumer must opt in, or affirmatively consent, to the overdraft service for ATM and one-time debit card transactions, and the consumer has an ongoing right to revoke consent. Institutions may not require an opt in for ATM and one-time debit transactions as a condition to the payment of overdrafts for checks and other transactions. The account terms, conditions and features must be the same for consumers who opt in and for those who do not.

Opt-In Requirement for Overdraft Services. The financial institution may assess a fee for paying an ATM or one-time debit card transaction pursuant to an overdraft service only if it has met the following requirements:

- The financial institution has provided the consumer with a written (or, if the consumer agrees, electronic) notice, segregated from all other information, describing the overdraft service;

11 The agencies were the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and the National Credit Union Administration. See Interagency Guidance on Overdraft Protection Program (70 Fed. Reg. 9127, February 24, 2005).

CFPB Consumer
Laws and Regulations

- The financial institution has provided a reasonable opportunity for the consumer to affirmatively consent (opt in) to the overdraft service for ATM and one-time debit card transactions;

- The financial institution has obtained the consumer’s affirmative consent (opt in) for ATM and one-time debit card transactions; and

- The financial institution has mailed or delivered written (or, if the consumer agrees, electronic) confirmation of the consent, including a statement informing the consumer of the right to revoke consent. An institution complies if it adopts reasonable procedures to ensure that it assesses overdraft fees only for transactions paid after mailing or delivering the confirmation to the consumer. (12 CFR 1005.17(b)(1); Comment 1005.17(b)-7)

Fee Prohibitions. As a general rule, an institution may not charge overdraft fees for paying an ATM or one-time debit card transaction unless the consumer has opted in. The fee prohibition also applies to an institution that has a policy and practice of not paying an ATM or one-time debit card overdraft when it reasonably believes at the time of the authorization request that the consumer does not have sufficient funds available to pay the transaction, although the institution does not have to comply with the notice and opt-in requirements. (Comment 1005.17(b)-1(iv))

Lack of consent does not prohibit the financial institution from paying ATM or one-time debit card overdrafts. However, the financial institution may charge a fee only if the consumer has consented to the institution’s overdraft service for ATM and one-time debit card transactions. (Comment 1005.17(b)-2) Conversely, the financial institution is not required to pay an ATM or one-time debit card overdraft even if the consumer has consented to pay a fee. (Comment 1005.17(b)-3)

For a consumer who has not opted in, if a fee or charge is based on the amount of the outstanding negative balance, an institution may not charge a fee for a negative balance that is solely attributable to an ATM or one-time debit card transaction. However, an institution may assess a fee if the negative balance is attributable in whole or in part to a check, ACH transaction or other type of transaction not subject to the prohibition on assessing overdraft fees. (Comment 1005.17(b)-8)

For a consumer who has not opted in, the institution may not assess daily or sustained negative balance, overdraft, or similar fees for a negative balance, based solely on ATM or one-time debit card transactions. However, if the negative balance is attributable in part to a check, ACH transaction or other type of transaction not subject to the prohibition on assessing overdraft fees, the institution may charge a daily or sustained overdraft or similar fee, even if the consumer has not opted in. The date the fee may be charged is based on the date on which the check, ACH, or other type of transaction is paid into overdraft. (Comment 1005.17(b)-9)
Contents and Format of Notice. The notice describing the overdraft service must be substantially similar to Model Form A-9. The notice must include all of the following items, and may not contain any other information not expressly specified or otherwise permitted:

- A brief description of the overdraft service and the types of transactions for which the financial institution may charge a fee;
- The dollar amount of any fee that may be charged for an ATM or one-time debit card transaction, including any daily or other overdraft fees;\(^{13}\)
- The maximum number of fees that may be charged per day, or, if applicable, that there is no limit;
- An explanation of the right to affirmatively consent to the overdraft service, including the methods by which the consumer may consent;\(^{14}\) and
- The availability of a line of credit or a service that transfers funds from another account to cover overdrafts, if the financial institution offers those alternatives.\(^{15}\) (12 CFR 1005.17(d)(1) through (d)(5))

The financial institution also may (but is not required to) include the following information, to the extent applicable:

- Disclosure of the right to opt into, or out of, the payment of overdrafts for other types of transactions (e.g., checks, ACH transactions, or automatic bill payments) and a means for the consumer to exercise such choices;
- Disclosure of the financial institution’s returned item fee, as well as the fact that merchants may charge additional fees; and
- Disclosure of the right to revoke consent. (12 CFR 1005.17(d)(6))

Reasonable opportunity to consent. The financial institution must provide a reasonable opportunity to consent. Reasonable methods of consent include mail - if the financial institution provides a form for the consumer to fill out and mail, telephone - if the financial institution provides a readily-available telephone line that the consumer may call, electronic means - if the \(^{13}\) If the amount of the fee may vary based on the number of times the consumer has overdrawn the account, the amount of the overdraft, or other factors, the financial institution must disclose the maximum fee.

\(^{14}\) Institutions may tailor the response portion of Model Form A-9 to the methods offered. For example, a tear-off portion of Model Form A-9 is not necessary if consumers may only opt-in by telephone or electronically. (Comment 1005.17(d)-3).

\(^{15}\) If the institution offers both a line of credit subject to Regulation Z (12 CFR Part 1026) and a service that transfers funds from another account of the consumer held at the institution to cover overdrafts, the institution must state in its opt-in notice that both alternative plans are offered. If the institution offers one, but not the other, it must state in its opt-in notice the alternative plan that it offers. If the institution does not offer either plan, it should omit the reference to the alternative plans. (Comment 1005.17(d)-5). If the financial institution offers additional alternatives for paying overdrafts, it may (but is not required to) disclose those alternatives. 12 CFR 1005.17(d)(5).
financial institution provides a form that can be accessed and processed at its website, where the consumer may click on a box to consent and click on a button to affirm consent, or in person - if the financial institution provides a form for the consumer to complete and present at a branch or office. (Comment 1005.17(b)-4) The financial institution may provide the opportunity to consent and require the consumer to make a choice as a step to opening an account. (Comment 1005.17(b)-5)

Affirmative consent is necessary. An important feature of the opt in is that the consumer’s affirmative consent is necessary before the institution may charge overdraft fees for paying an ATM or one-time debit card transaction. (12 CFR 1005.17(b)(iii)) The consent must be separate from other consents or acknowledgments (including a consent to receive disclosures electronically). Check boxes are allowed, but the check box and the consumer’s signature may only apply to the consumer’s consent to opt in. Preprinted disclosures about the overdraft service provided with a signature card or contract do not constitute affirmative consent. (Comment 1005.17(b)-6)

Confirmation and consumer’s right to revoke. Not only must the consumer affirmatively consent, but the institution must mail or deliver to the consumer a written confirmation (or electronic, if the consumer agrees) that the consumer has consented, along with a statement informing the consumer of the right to revoke the consent at any time. (12 CFR 1005.17(b)(iv) and Comment 1005.17(b)-7) An institution complies with the confirmation requirement if it has adopted reasonable procedures to ensure that overdraft fees are assessed only on transactions paid after the confirmation is mailed or delivered to the consumer. (Comment 1005.17(b)-7)

Assessing fees. For consumers who have not opted in, institutions are prohibited from charging overdraft fees for paying those transactions. This prohibition applies to daily or sustained overdraft, negative balance, or similar fees. However, the rule does not prohibit an institution from assessing these fees if the negative balance is attributable, in whole or part, to a check, ACH or other transaction not subject to the fee prohibition. However, if the negative balance is attributable in part to an ATM transaction, for example, and in part to a check, a fee may be assessed based on the date when the check is paid into overdraft, not the date of the ATM or one-time debit transaction.

Conditioning payment of other overdrafts. The financial institution may not condition the payment of other types of overdraft transactions on the consumer’s affirmative consent, and the financial institution may not decline to pay other types of overdraft transactions because the consumer has not affirmatively consented to the payment of ATM and one-time debit card overdrafts. (12 CFR 1005.17(b)(2)) In other words, the financial institution may not use different criteria for paying other types of overdraft transactions for consumers who have consented and for consumers who have not consented. (Comment 1005.17(b)(2)-1)
Same account terms, conditions, and features. In addition, the financial institution must provide to consumers who do not affirmatively consent the same account terms, conditions, and features (except the payment of ATM and one-time debit overdrafts) that are available to consumers who do affirmatively consent. (12 CFR 1005.17(b)(3)) That requirement includes, but is not limited to:

- Interest rates paid;
- Fees assessed;
- The type of ATM or debit card provided to the depositor;\(^\text{16}\)
- Minimum balance requirements; and
- On-line bill payment services. (Comment 1005.17(b)(3)-1)

Joint Accounts. Any consumer may consent, or revoke consent, for payment of ATM or one-time debit card transactions from a joint account. (12 CFR 1005.17(e))

Continuing Right to Consent or Revoke. A consumer may consent to the payment of ATM and one-time debit card overdrafts at any time. A consumer may also revoke consent at any time. The financial institution must implement a revocation as soon as reasonably practicable. (12 CFR 1005.17(f)) The financial institution need not waive overdraft fees assessed before it implements the consumer’s revocation. (Comment 1005.17(f)-1)

Duration of Consent. Consent remains effective until the consumer revokes it, unless the financial institution terminates the overdraft service. (12 CFR 1005.17(g)) The financial institution may terminate the overdraft service, for example, if the consumer makes excessive use of the service. (Comment 1005.17(g)-1)

Effective Date. The overdraft services rule became effective on January 19, 2010, and compliance became mandatory on July 1, 2010. For accounts opened on or after July 1, 2010, the financial institution must obtain consent before charging a fee for payment of any ATM or one-time debit overdraft. However, for accounts opened before July 1, 2010, the financial institution may not charge a fee for paying any ATM or one-time debit overdraft on or after August 15, 2010, unless it has obtained consent. (See 12 CFR 1005.17(c)) \(^\text{16}\) For example, the financial institution may not provide a PIN-only debit card to consumers who do not opt in, and a debit card with both PIN and signature-debit features to consumers who do opt in.

IV. Issuance of Access Devices – 12 CFR 1005.5 and 1005.18

In general, a financial institution may issue an access device to a consumer only in the following cases:

- The consumer requested it in writing or orally."17

- It is a renewal of, or a substitute for, an accepted access device (as defined in 12 CFR 1005.2(a)). (12 CFR 1005.5(a)).

Only one renewal or substitute device may replace a previously issued device. A financial institution may provide additional devices at the time it issues the renewal or substitute access device provided the institution complies with the requirements for issuing unsolicited access devices for the additional devices (Comments 1005.5(a)(2)-1 and 1005.5(b)-5).

A financial institution may issue an unsolicited access device only if the access device meets all of the following criteria. The access device is:

- Not validated - that is, it cannot be used to initiate an EFT.

- Accompanied by the explanation that it is not validated and how the consumer may dispose of it if the consumer does not wish to validate it.

- Accompanied by a complete disclosure, in accordance with 12 CFR 1005.7, of the consumer’s rights and liabilities that will apply if the access device is validated.

- Validated only upon oral or written request from the consumer and after a verification of the consumer’s identity by some reasonable means (12 CFR 1005.5(b)).

The financial institution may use any reasonable means of verifying the consumer’s identity, but the consumer is not liable for any unauthorized transfers if an imposter succeeds in validating the access device (Comment 1005.5(b)-4).

Payroll Card Access Devices. Consistent with 12 CFR 1005.5(a), a financial institution may issue a payroll card access device only in response to an oral or written request for the device or as a renewal or substitute for an accepted access device. A consumer is deemed to request an access device for a payroll account when the consumer chooses to receive salary or other compensation through a payroll card account (Comment 1005.18(a)-1).

EFT added to credit card. The EFTA and Regulation E apply when the capability to initiate EFTs is added to an accepted credit card (as defined under Regulation Z). The EFTA and Regulation E also apply to the issuance of an access device that permits credit extensions under a preexisting agreement between the consumer and a financial institution to extend credit only to cover overdrafts (or to maintain a specified minimum balance). The Truth in Lending Act and Regulation Z govern the addition of a credit feature to an accepted access device, and except as discussed above, the issuance of a credit card that is also an access device. For information on Regulation E’s relationship to other laws, including Truth in Lending, see 12 CFR 1005.12.

V. Consumer Liability and Error Resolution

Liability of Consumers for Unauthorized Transfers – 12 CFR 1005.6

A consumer may be liable for an unauthorized EFT (defined in 12 CFR 1005.2(m)) depending on when the consumer notifies the financial institution and whether an access device was used to conduct the transaction. Under the EFTA, there is no bright-line time limit within which consumers must report unauthorized EFTs (71 Fed. Reg. 1638, 1653 (Jan. 10, 2006)).

The extent of the consumer’s liability is determined solely by the consumer’s promptness in notifying the financial institution (Comment 1005.6(b)-3). Other factors may not be used as a basis to hold consumers liable. Regulation E expressly prohibits the following factors as the basis for imposing greater liability than is permissible under Regulation E: the consumer was negligent (e.g., wrote a PIN on an ATM card); an agreement between the consumer and the financial institution provides for greater liability; or the consumer is liable for a greater amount under state law (Comments 1005.6(b)-2 and 1005.6(b)-3).

A consumer may only be held liable for an unauthorized transaction, within the limitations set forth in 12 CFR 1005.6(b), if:

- The financial institution has provided all of the following written disclosures to the consumer:
  - A summary of the consumer’s liability for unauthorized EFTs.
  - The telephone number and address for reporting that an unauthorized EFT has been or may be made.
  - The financial institution’s business days.

- Any access device used to affect the EFT was an accepted access device (as defined in 12 CFR 1005.2(a)).

- The financial institution has provided a means to identify the consumer to whom the access device was issued (12 CFR 1005.6(a)).

Regulation E allows, but does not require, the financial institution to provide a separate means to identify each consumer of a multiple-user account (Comment 1005.6(a)-2).

The limitations on the amount of consumer liability for unauthorized EFTs, the time limits within which consumers must report unauthorized EFTs, and the liability for failing to adhere to those time limits, are listed in the chart below. The financial institution may impose less consumer liability than is provided by 12 CFR 1005.6 based on state law or the deposit agreement (12 CFR 1005.6(b)(6)).

Knowledge of Loss or Theft. The fact that a consumer has received a periodic statement reflecting an unauthorized transaction is a factor, but not conclusive evidence, in determining whether the consumer had knowledge of a loss or theft of the access device (Comment 1005.6(b)(1)-2).

18 Includes a personal identification number (PIN) if used without a card in a telephone transaction, for example.

19 Provided the financial institution demonstrates that these transfers would not have occurred had notice been given within the two-business-day period.

Timing of Notice. If a consumer’s delay in notifying a financial institution was due to extenuating circumstances, such as extended travel or hospitalization, the time periods for notification specified above must be extended to a reasonable time (12 CFR 1005.6(b)(4); Comment 1005.6(b)(4)-1).

Notice to the Financial Institution. A consumer gives notice to a financial institution about unauthorized use when the consumer takes reasonable steps to provide the financial institution with the pertinent information, whether or not a particular employee actually receives the information (12 CFR 1005.6(b)(5)(i)). Even if the consumer is unable to provide the account number or the card number, the notice effectively limits the consumer’s liability if the consumer sufficiently identifies the account in question, for example, by giving the name on the account and the type of account (Comment 1005.6(b)(5)-3). At the consumer’s option, notice may be given in person, by telephone, or in writing (12 CFR 1005.6(b)(5)(ii)). Notice in writing is considered given at the time the consumer mails the notice or delivers the notice for transmission by any other usual means to the financial institution. Notice may also be considered given when the financial institution becomes aware of circumstances leading to the reasonable belief that an unauthorized transfer has been or may be made (12 CFR 1005.6(b)(5)(iii)).

Relation of Error Resolution to Truth in Lending. Regulation E’s liability and error resolution provisions apply to an extension of credit that occurs under an agreement between the consumer and a financial institution to extend credit when the consumer’s account is overdrawn, to maintain a specified minimum balance in the consumer’s account, or under an overdraft service (12 CFR 1005.12(a)(1)(ii)). As provided in 12 CFR 1005.12 and related commentary, for transactions involving access devices that also function as credit cards, the liability and error resolution provisions of Regulation E or Regulation Z will apply depending on the nature of the transaction:

- If the unauthorized use of a combined access device-credit card solely involves an extension of credit, other than an extension of credit described under 12 CFR 1005.12(a)(1)(iii), and does not involve an EFT, for example, when the card is used to draw cash advances directly from a credit line, only the error resolution provisions of Regulation Z will apply.

- If the unauthorized use of a combined access device-credit card involves only an EFT, for example, debit card purchases or cash withdrawals at an ATM from a checking account, only the error resolution provisions of Regulation E will apply.

- If a combined access device-credit card is stolen and unauthorized transactions are made by using the card as both a debit card and a credit card, Regulation E will apply to the unauthorized transactions in which the card was used as a debit card, and Regulation Z will apply to the unauthorized transactions in which the card was used as a credit card.

Procedures for Resolving Errors – 12 CFR 1005.11

This section defines the term error and describes the steps the consumer must take when asserting an error in order to receive the protection of the EFTA and Regulation E, and the procedures that a financial institution must follow to resolve an alleged error.
An error includes any of the following:

- An unauthorized EFT.
- An incorrect EFT to or from the consumer’s account.
- The omission from a periodic statement of an EFT to or from the consumer’s account that should have been included.
- A computational or bookkeeping error made by the financial institution relating to an EFT.
- The consumer’s receipt of an incorrect amount of money from an electronic terminal.
- An EFT not identified in accordance with the requirements of 12 CFR 1005.9 or 1005.10(a).
- A consumer’s request for any documentation required by 12 CFR 1005.9 or 1005.10(a) or for additional information or clarification concerning an EFT (12 CFR 1005.11(a)(1)).

The term error does not include:

- A routine inquiry about the balance in the consumer’s account or a request for duplicate copies of documentation or other information that is made only for tax or other record-keeping purposes (12 CFR 1005.11(a)(2)(i), (ii), and (iii)).
- The fact that a financial institution does not make a terminal receipt available for a transfer of $15 or less in accordance with 1005.9(e) (Comment 1005.11(a)-6).

A financial institution must comply with the error resolution procedures in 12 CFR 1005.11 with respect to any oral or written notice of error from the consumer that:

- The financial institution receives not later than 60 days after sending a periodic statement or other documentation first reflecting the alleged error (see 12 CFR 1005.14 and 1005.18).
- Enables the financial institution to identify the consumer’s name and account number.
- Indicates why the consumer believes the error exists and, to the extent possible, the type, date, and amount of the error (12 CFR 1005.11(b)(1)).

A financial institution may require a consumer to give written confirmation of an error within 10 business days of giving oral notice. The financial institution must provide the address where confirmation must be sent (12 CFR 1005.11(b)(2)).

Error Resolution Procedures. After receiving a notice of error, the financial institution must do all of the following:

- Promptly investigate the oral or written allegation of error.
- Complete its investigation within 10 business days (12 CFR 1005.11(c)(1)).
- Report the results of its investigation within three business days after completing its investigation.

- Correct the error within one business day after determining that an error has occurred.

The financial institution may take up to 45 calendar days (12 CFR 1005.11(c)(2)) to complete its investigation provided it:

- Provisionally credits the funds (including interest, where applicable) to the consumer’s account within the 10 business-day period.

- Advises the consumer within two business days of the provisional crediting.

- Gives the consumer full use of the funds during the investigation.

A financial institution need not provisionally credit the account to take up to 45 calendar days to complete its investigation if the consumer fails to provide the required written confirmation of an oral notice of error, or if the notice of error involves an account subject to the margin requirements or other aspects of Regulation T (Securities Credit by Brokers and Dealers, 12 CFR Part 220) (12 CFR 1005.11(c)(2)(i)(B)).

However, where an error involves an unauthorized EFT, the financial institution must comply with the requirements of the provisions relating to unauthorized EFTs before holding the consumer liable, even if the consumer does not provide a notice of error within the time limits in 12 CFR 1005.11(b) (Comment 1005.11(b)(1)-7).

When investigating a claim of error, the financial institution need only review its own records if the alleged error concerns a transfer to or from a third party, and there is no agreement between the financial institution and the third party for the type of EFT involved (12 CFR 1005.11(c)(4)). However, the financial institution may not limit its investigation solely to the payment instructions where other information within the financial institution’s records pertaining to a particular account may help to resolve a consumer’s claim (Comment 1005.11(c)(4)-5).

If, after investigating the alleged error, the financial institution determines that an error has occurred, it must promptly (within one business day after such determination) correct the error, including the crediting of interest if applicable. The financial institution must provide within three business days of the completed investigation an oral or written report of the correction to the consumer and, as applicable, notify the consumer that the provisional credit has been made final (12 CFR 1005.11(c)(2)(iii) and (iv)).

If the financial institution determines that no error occurred or that an error occurred in a different manner or amount from that described by the consumer, the financial institution must mail or deliver a written explanation of its findings within three business days after concluding its investigation. The explanation must include a notice of the consumer’s rights to request the documents upon which the financial institution relied in making its determination (12 CFR 1005.11(d)).
Upon debiting a provisionally credited amount, the financial institution must notify the consumer of the date and amount of the debit and of the fact that the financial institution will honor (without charge) checks, drafts, or similar paper instruments payable to third parties and preauthorized debits for five business days after transmittal of the notice. The financial institution need honor only items that it would have paid if the provisionally credited funds had not been debited. Upon request from the consumer, the financial institution must promptly mail or deliver to the consumer copies of documents upon which it relied in making its determination (12 CFR 1005.11(d)(2)).

If a notice involves an error that occurred within 30 days after the first deposit to the account was made, the time periods are extended from 10 and 45 days, to 20 and 90 days, respectively. If the notice of error involves a transaction that was not initiated in a state or resulted from a point-of-sale debit card transaction, the 45-day period is extended to 90 days (12 CFR 1005.11(c)(3)).

If a financial institution has fully complied with the investigation requirements, it generally does not need to reinvestigate if a consumer later reasserts the same error. However, it must investigate a claim of error asserted by a consumer following receipt of information provided pursuant to 12 CFR 1005.11(a)(1)(vii) (12 CFR 1005.11(e)).

VI. Receipts and Periodic Statements

Documentation of Transfers – 12 CFR 1005.9

Electronic terminal receipts. Receipts must be made available at the time a consumer initiates an EFT at an electronic terminal (12 CFR 1005.9(a)). Financial institutions may provide receipts only to consumers who request one (Comment 1005.9(a)-1). The receipt must include, as applicable:

- Amount of the transfer. A charge for making the transfer may be included in the amount, provided the charge is disclosed on the receipt and on a sign posted on or at the terminal.

- Date. The date the consumer initiates the transfer.

- Type of transfer and type of account. Descriptions such as “withdrawal from checking” or “transfer from savings to checking” are appropriate. This is true even if the accounts are only similar in function to a checking account (such as a share draft or NOW account) or a savings account (such as a share account). If the access device used can only access one account, the type of account may be omitted (Comments 1005.9(a)(3)-1; 1005.9(3)-2; 1005.9(3)-4; and 1005.9(3)-5).

- Identifying number or code. Number or code identifying the consumer’s account(s) or the access device used to initiate the transfer – the number and code need not exceed four digits or letters.

- Location of the terminal. The location of the terminal where the transfer is initiated or an identification, such as a code or terminal number. If the location is disclosed, except in limited circumstances where all terminals are located in the same city or state, the receipt must include the city and state or foreign country and one of the following:

- Street address of the terminal;
- Generally accepted name for the location of the terminal (such as an airport, shopping center, or branch of a financial institution); or
- Name of the entity (if other than the financial institution providing the statement) at whose place of business the terminal is located, such as a store, and the city, state, or foreign country (12 CFR 1005.9(a)(5)).

Third party. Name of any third party to or from whom funds are transferred — a code may be used to identify the party if the code is explained on the receipt. This requirement does not apply if the name of the party is provided by the consumer in a manner the terminal cannot duplicate on the receipt, such as on a payment stub (12 CFR 1005.9(a)(6) and Comment 1005.9(a)(6)-1).

Receipts are not required for electronic EFTs of $15 or less (12 CFR 1005.9(e)).

Periodic statements. Periodic statements must be sent for each monthly cycle in which an EFT has occurred, and at least quarterly if no EFT has occurred (12 CFR 1005.9(b)). For each EFT made during the cycle, the statement must include, as applicable:

- Amount of the transfer – if a charge was imposed at an electronic terminal by the owner or operator of the terminal, that charge may be included in the amount.
- Date the transfer was posted to the account.
- Type of transfer(s) and type of account(s) to or from which funds were transferred.
- For each transfer (except deposits of cash, or a check, draft or similar paper instrument to the consumer’s account) initiated at an electronic terminal, the terminal location as required for the receipt under 12 CFR 1005.9(a)(5).
- Name of any third party payee or payor.
- Account number(s).
- Total amount of any fees and charges, other than a finance charge as defined by Regulation Z, assessed during the period for making EFTs, the right to make EFTs, or for account maintenance.
- Balance in the account at the beginning and close of the statement period.
- Address and telephone number to be used by the consumer for inquiries or notice of errors. If the financial institution has elected to send the abbreviated error notice with every periodic statement, the address and telephone number may appear on that document.
• If the financial institution has provided a telephone number which the consumer can use to find out whether or not a preauthorized transfer has taken place, that telephone number.

Exceptions to the Periodic Statement Requirement for Certain Accounts

• Passbook accounts. Where a consumer’s passbook may not be accessed by an EFT other than preauthorized transfers to the account, a periodic statement need not be sent, provided that the financial institution updates the consumer’s passbook or provides the required information on a separate document at the consumer’s request. To update the passbook, the amount and date of each EFT made since the passbook was last presented must be listed (12 CFR 1005.9(c)(1)(i)). For other accounts that may be accessed only by preauthorized transfers to the account, the financial institution must send a periodic statement at least quarterly (12 CFR 1005.9(c)(1)(ii)).

• Transfers between accounts. If a transfer occurs between two accounts of the consumer at the same financial institution, the transfer need only be documented for one of the two accounts (12 CFR 1005.9(c)(2)). A preauthorized transfer between two accounts of the consumer at the same financial institution is subject to the 12 CFR 1005.9(c)(1) rule on preauthorized transfers and not the 12 CFR 1005.9(c)(2) rule on intra-institutional transfers (12 CFR 1005.9(c)(3)).

• Documentation for Foreign-initiated transfers. If an EFT is initiated outside the United States, the financial institution need not provide a receipt or a periodic statement reflecting the transfer if it treats an inquiry for clarification or documentation as a notice of error (12 CFR 1005.9(d)).

Alternatives to Periodic Statements for Financial Institutions Offering Payroll Card Accounts – 12 CFR 1005.18

This section provides an alternative to providing periodic statements for payroll card accounts if financial institutions make the account information available to consumers by specific means. In addition, this section clarifies how financial institutions that do not provide periodic statements for payroll card accounts can comply with the Regulation E requirements relating to initial disclosures, the annual error resolution notice, liability limits, and the error resolution procedures.

Typically, employers and third-party service providers do not meet the definition of a “financial institution” subject to the regulation because they neither (i) hold payroll card accounts nor (ii) issue payroll cards and agree with consumers to provide EFT services in connection with payroll card accounts. However, to the extent an employer or a service provider undertakes either of these functions, it would be deemed a financial institution under the regulation (Comment 1005.18(a)-2).

Alternative to Periodic Statements. A financial institution does not need to furnish periodic statements required by 12 CFR 1005.9(b) if the financial institution makes available to the consumer the following:
The account balance, through a readily available telephone line.

- An electronic history of account transactions covering at least 60 days preceding the date the consumer electronically accesses the account.

- A written history of the account transactions provided promptly in response to an oral or written request and covering at least 60 days preceding the date the financial institution receives the consumer’s request (12 CFR 1005.18(b)(1)).

The history of account transactions must include the same type of information required on periodic statements under 12 CFR 1005.9(b) (12 CFR 1005.18(b)(2)).

Requirements to Comply with Regulation E. If a financial institution provides an alternative to periodic statements under 12 CFR 1005.18(b), it must comply with the following:

- Modify the initial disclosures under 12 CFR 1005.7(b) by disclosing:
  - A telephone number that the consumer may call to obtain the account balance; the means by which the consumer can obtain an electronic account history, such as the address of an Internet website; and a summary of the consumer’s right to receive a written account history upon request (in place of the summary of the right to receive a periodic statement required by 12 CFR 1005.7(b)(6)), including a telephone number to call to request a history. The disclosure required by 12 CFR 1005.18(c)(1)(i) may be made by providing a notice substantially similar to the notice contained in paragraph A-7(a) in Appendix A of Part 1005.

  - A notice concerning error resolution that is substantially similar to the notice contained in paragraph A-7(b) in Appendix A, in place of the notice required by 12 CFR 1005.7(b)(10).

- Provide an annual error resolution notice that is substantially similar to the notice contained in paragraph (b) to A-7 - Model Clauses for Financial Institutions Offering Payroll Card Accounts in Appendix A of 12 CFR Part 1005, in place of the notice required by 12 CFR 1005.8(b). Alternatively, a financial institution may include on or with each electronic and written history provided in accordance with 12 CFR 1005.18(b)(1), a notice substantially similar to the abbreviated notice for periodic statements contained in paragraph A-3(b) in Appendix A, modified as necessary to reflect the error-resolution provisions set forth in this section.

- Limits on consumer liability.
  - For purposes of 12 CFR 1005.6(b)(3), the 60-day period for reporting any unauthorized transfer begins on the earlier of:

    - The date the consumer electronically accesses the consumer’s account under 12 CFR 1005.18(b)(1)(ii), provided that the electronic history made available to the consumer reflects the transfer; or
The date the financial institution sends a written history of the consumer’s account transactions requested by the consumer under 12 CFR 1005.18(b)(1)(iii) in which the unauthorized transfer is first reflected.

A financial institution may limit the consumer’s liability for an unauthorized transfer as provided under 12 CFR 1005.6(b)(3) for transfers reported by the consumer within 120 days after the transfer was credited or debited to the consumer’s account.

Comply with error resolution requirements.

An error notice is considered timely, and the financial institution must comply with the requirements of 12 CFR 1005.11, if the financial institution receives notice from the consumer no later than the earlier of:

- 60 days after the date the consumer electronically accesses the consumer’s account under 12 CFR 1005.18(b)(1)(ii), provided that the electronic history made available to the consumer reflects the alleged error; or

- 60 days after the date the financial institution sends a written history of the consumer’s account transactions requested by the consumer under 12 CFR 1005.18(b)(1)(iii) in which the alleged error is first reflected.

Alternatively, a financial institution complies with the error resolution requirements in 12
CFR 1005.11 if it investigates any oral or written notice of an error from the consumer that is received by the financial institution within 120 days after the transfer allegedly in error was credited or debited to the consumer’s account.

VII. Gift Cards – 12 CFR 1005.20

A gift card is a type of prepaid card that is designed to be purchased by one consumer and given to another consumer as a present or expression of appreciation or recognition. When provided in the form of a plastic card, a user of a gift card is able to access and spend the value associated with the device by swiping the card at a POS terminal, much as a person would use a debit card.
There are two distinct types of gift cards: closed-loop cards and open-loop cards. Closed-loop gift cards constitute the majority of the gift card market, are typically issued by a merchant, not by a financial institution, and generally can only be used to make purchases at the merchant or group of merchants. Open-loop gift cards are generally issued by financial institutions, typically carry a card network brand logo, can be used at a wide variety of merchants and are more likely to carry fees compared to closed-loop gift cards, including card issuance and transaction-based fees. Open-loop gift cards are more likely to offer the capability of being reloaded with additional value (reloadable) than are closed-loop gift cards.

Concerns have been raised regarding the amount of fees associated with gift cards, the expiration dates of gift cards, and the adequacy of disclosures. Consumers who do not use the value of the card within a short period of time may be surprised to find that the card has expired or that dormancy or service fees have reduced the value of the card. Even where fees or terms are disclosed on or with the card, the disclosures may not be clear and conspicuous. This rule contains restrictions on dormancy, inactivity and service fees and expiration dates.

Scope of the gift card rule. The rule is generally limited to gift certificates, store gift cards, or general-use prepaid cards sold or issued to consumers primarily for personal, family, or household purposes. It generally does not apply to cards, codes, or other devices that are reloadable and not marketed or labeled as a gift card or gift certificate and loyalty, award, and promotional gift cards. See also the exclusions from the gift card definitions, described above.

Restrictions on Dormancy, Inactivity, or Service Fees – 12 CFR 1005.20(d). No person may impose a dormancy, inactivity, or service fee with respect to a gift certificate, store gift card, or general-use prepaid card, unless three conditions are satisfied:

- There has been no activity with respect to the certificate or card within the one-year period prior to the imposition of the fee;
- Only one such fee is assessed in a given calendar month; and
- Disclosures regarding dormancy, inactivity, or service fees are clearly and conspicuously stated on the certificate or card, and the person issuing or selling the certificate or card has provided these disclosures to the purchaser before the certificate or card is purchased. See the disclosure section, above, for additional information.

Expiration Date Restrictions – 12 CFR 1005.20(e). A gift certificate, store gift card, or general-use prepaid card may not be sold or issued unless the expiration date of the funds underlying the certificate or card is no less than five years after the date of issuance (in the case of a gift certificate) or five years after the date of last load of funds (in the case of a store gift card or general-use prepaid card). In addition, information regarding whether funds underlying a certificate or card may expire must be clearly and conspicuously stated on the certificate or card and disclosed prior to purchase.

No person may sell or issue a certificate or card with an expiration date unless the person has established policies and procedures to provide consumers with a reasonable opportunity to purchase a certificate or card that has an expiration date that is at least five years from the date of purchase. A person who has established policies and procedures to prevent the sale of a certificate or card with less than five years from the date of purchase satisfies this requirement.

A certificate or card generally must include a disclosure alerting consumers to the difference between the certificate or card expiration date and the funds expiration date, if any, and that the consumer may contact the issuer for a replacement card. This disclosure must be stated with equal prominence and in close proximity to the certificate or card expiration date. Non-reloadable certificates or cards that bear an expiration date on the certificate or card that is at least seven years from the date of manufacture need not include this disclosure. See the disclosure section, above, for additional information.

To ensure that consumers are able to access the underlying funds for the full five-year period, fees may not be imposed for replacing an expired certificate or card if the underlying funds remain valid (unless the card has been lost or stolen). In lieu of sending a replacement certificate or card, issuers may remit, without charge, the remaining balance of funds to the consumer.

Effective Date. The requirements of this section apply to any gift certificate, store gift card, or general-use prepaid card sold to a consumer on or after August 22, 2010, or provided to the consumer as a replacement for such certificate or card.21

VIII. Other Requirements

Preauthorized Transfers – 12 CFR 1005.10

A preauthorized transfer may be either a credit to, or a debit from, an account.

Preauthorized transfers to a consumer’s account. When an account is scheduled to be credited by a preauthorized EFT from the same payor at least once every 60 days, the financial institution must provide some form of notice to the consumer so that the consumer can find out whether or not the transfer occurred (12 CFR 1005.10(a)). The notice requirement will be satisfied if the payor provides notice to the consumer that the transfer has been initiated. If the payor does not provide notice, the financial institution must adopt one of three alternative procedures for giving notice.

- The financial institution may give the consumer oral or written notice within two business days after a preauthorized transfer occurs.

- The financial institution may give the consumer oral or written notice, within two business days after the preauthorized transfer was scheduled to occur, that the transfer did not occur.

- The financial institution may establish a readily available telephone line22 that the consumer may call to find out whether a preauthorized transfer has occurred. If the financial institution selects this option, the telephone number must be disclosed on the initial disclosures and on each periodic statement.

The financial institution need not use any specific language to give notice but may not simply provide the current account balance (Comment 1005.10(a)(1)-1). The financial institution may use different methods of notice for different types of preauthorized transfers and need not offer consumers a choice of notice methods (Comment 1005.10(a)(1)-2).

21 For gift cards produced before April 1, 2010, the mandatory compliance date was extended to January 31, 2011, for several disclosures on the card. 12 CFR 1005.20(h).

22 The telephone line must be “readily available” so that consumers calling to inquire about transfers are able to have their calls answered reasonably promptly during normal business hours. During the initial call in most cases and within two business days after the initial call in all cases, the financial institution should be able to verify whether the transfer was received (Comment 1005.10(a)(1)-5). Within its primary service area, a financial institution must provide a local or toll-free telephone number (Comment 1005.10(a)(1)-7).
The financial institution that receives a preauthorized transfer must credit the consumer’s account as of the day the funds are received (12 CFR 1005.10(a)(3)).

Preauthorized transfers from a customer’s account. Preauthorized transfers from a consumer’s account may only be authorized by the consumer in writing and signed or similarly authenticated by the consumer (12 CFR 1005.10(b)). Signed, written authorizations may be provided electronically, subject to the E-Sign Act (Comment 1005.10(b)-5). In all cases, the party that obtains the authorization from the consumer must provide a copy to the consumer. If a third party payee fails to obtain an authorization in writing or fails to provide a copy to the consumer, the third party payee and not the financial institution has violated Regulation E (Comment 1005.10(b)-2).

Stop payments. Consumers have the right to stop payment of preauthorized transfers from accounts. The consumer must notify the financial institution orally or in writing at any time up to three business days before the scheduled date of the transfer (12 CFR 1005.10(c)(1)). If the debit item is resubmitted, the institution must continue to honor the stop-payment order. (Comment 1005.10(c)-1) The financial institution may require written confirmation of an oral stop payment order to be made within 14 days of the consumer’s oral notification. If the financial institution requires a written confirmation, it must inform the consumer at the time of the oral stop payment order that written confirmation is required and provide the address to which the confirmation should be sent. If the consumer fails to provide written confirmation, the oral stop payment order ceases to be binding after 14 days (12 CFR 1005.10(c)(2)).

Notice of transfers varying in amount. If a preauthorized transfer from a consumer’s account varies in amount from the previous transfer under the same authorization or the preauthorized amount, either the financial institution or the designated payee must send to the consumer a written notice, at least 10 days before the scheduled transfer date, of the amount and scheduled date of the transfer (12 CFR 1005.10(d)(1)). The consumer may elect to receive notice only when the amount varies by more than an agreed amount or falls outside a specified range (12 CFR 1005.10(d)(2)). The range must be an acceptable range that the consumer could reasonably anticipate (Comment 1005.10(d)(2)-1). The financial institution does not violate Regulation E if the payee fails to provide sufficient notice (Comment 1005.10(d)-1).

Compulsory use. The financial institution may not make it a condition for an extension of credit that repayment will be by means of preauthorized EFT, except for credit extended under an overdraft credit plan or extended to maintain a specified minimum balance in the consumer’s account (12 CFR 1005.10(e)(1)). The financial institution may offer a reduced APR or other cost-related incentive for an automatic payment feature as long as the creditor offers other loan programs for the type of credit involved (Comment 1005.10(e)(1)-1). 23

23 This section also prohibits anyone from requiring the establishment of an account for receipt of EFTs with a particular financial institution either as a condition of employment or the receipt of a government benefit (12 CFR 1005.10(e)(2)). However, the employer may require direct deposit of salary, as long as the employee may choose the financial institution that will accept the direct deposit, or limit direct deposits to one financial institution as long as the employee may choose to receive salary by other means (e.g., check or cash). (Comment 1005.10(e)(2)-1).
Services Offered by Provider Not Holding Consumer’s Account – 12 CFR 1005.14

A person who provides EFT services to a consumer but does not hold the consumer’s account is a service provider subject to 12 CFR 1005.14 if the person issues an access device that the consumer can use to access the account and no agreement exists between the person and the account-holding financial institution. Transfers initiated by a service provider are often cleared through an automated clearinghouse (ACH).

The responsibilities of the service provider are set forth in 12 CFR 1005.14(b)(l) and (2). The duties of the account-holding financial institution with respect to the service provider are found in 12 CFR 1005.14(c)(l) and (2).

Electronic Fund Transfer of Government Benefits – 12 CFR 1005.15

12 CFR 1005.15 contains the rules that apply to electronic benefit transfer (EBT) programs. It provides that government agencies must comply with modified rules on the issuance of access devices, periodic statements, initial disclosures, liability for unauthorized use, and error resolution notices.

IX. Relation to Other Laws – 12 CFR 1005.12

This section describes the relationship between the EFTA and the Truth in Lending Act (TILA). The section also provides procedures for states to apply for exemptions from the requirements of the EFTA or Regulation E for any class of EFTs within the state.

The EFTA governs the following:

- The issuance of debit cards and other access devices with EFT capabilities.
- The addition of EFT features to credit cards.
- The issuance of access devices whose only credit feature is a pre-existing agreement to extend credit to cover account overdrafts or to maintain a minimum account balance, or is an overdraft service.
The TILA governs all of the following:

- The issuance of credit cards as defined in Regulation Z.
- The addition of a credit feature to a debit card or other access device, other than an overdraft service.
- The issuance of dual debit/credit cards, except for access devices whose only credit feature is a pre-existing agreement to cover account overdrafts or to maintain a minimum account balance, or an overdraft service.

The EFTA and Regulation E preempt inconsistent state laws, but only to the extent of the inconsistency. The CFPB is given the authority to determine whether or not a state law is inconsistent. A financial institution, state, or other interested party may request the CFPB to make such a determination. A state law will not be deemed inconsistent if it is more protective of the consumer than the EFTA or Regulation E. Upon application, the CFPB has the authority to exempt any state from the requirements of the Act or the regulation for any class of EFTs within a state, with the exception of the civil liability provision.

X. Administrative Enforcement and Record Retention – 12 CFR 1005.13

Section 917 of the EFTA sets forth the federal agencies responsible for enforcing compliance with the provisions of the Act.

Record retention. Financial institutions must maintain evidence of compliance with the EFTA and Regulation E for at least two years. The agency supervising the financial institution may extend this period. The period may also be extended if the financial institution is subject to an action filed under Sections 910, 915 or 916(a) of the EFTA, which generally apply to the financial institution’s liability under the EFTA and Regulation E. Persons subject to the EFTA who have actual notice that they are being investigated or subject to an enforcement proceeding must retain records until disposition of the proceeding.

Records may be stored on microfiche, microfilm, magnetic tape, or in any other manner capable of accurately retaining and reproducing the information.

XI. Miscellaneous

EFTA contains several additional provisions that are not directly reflected in the language of Regulation E. Most significantly, 15 U.S.C. 1693/ provides that the consumer may not waive by agreement any right conferred, or cause of action created, by the EFTA. However, the consumer and another person may provide by agreement greater consumer protections or additional rights or remedies than those provided by EFTA. In addition, the consumer may sign a waiver in settlement of a dispute.
If a third party payee has agreed to accept payment by EFT, the consumer’s obligation to pay is suspended during any period in which a system malfunction prevents an EFT from occurring (15 U.S.C. 1693j). However, the payee may avoid that suspension by making a written request for payment by means other than EFT.

Failure to comply with the requirements of EFTA can result in civil and criminal liability, as outlined in 15 U.S.C. 1693m and 15 U.S.C. 1693n. Financial institutions may also be liable for damages under 15 U.S.C. 1693h due to failure to complete an EFT or failure to stop a preauthorized transfer when instructed to do so.

Model disclosure clauses and forms – 12 CFR 1005, Appendix A

Appendix A of Regulation E contains model clauses and forms that financial institutions may use to comply with the requirement disclosure requirements of Regulation E. Use of the model forms is optional and a financial institution may make certain changes to the language or format of the model forms without losing the protection from civil and criminal liability under Sections 915 and 916 of the EFTA. The model forms are:

A-1 Model Clauses for Unsolicited Issuance (12 CFR 1005.5(b)(2))
A-2 Model Clauses for Initial Disclosures (12 CFR 1005.7(b))
A-3 Model Forms for Error Resolution Notice (12 CFR 1005.7(b)(10) and 1005.8(b))
A-4 Model Form for Service-Providing Institutions (12 CFR 1005.14(b)(1)(ii))
A-5 Model Forms for Government Agencies (12 CFR 1005.15(d)(1) and(2))
A-6 Model Clauses for Authorizing One-Time Electronic Fund Transfers Using Information from a Check (12 CFR 1005.3(b)(2))
A-7 Model Clauses for Financial Institutions Offering Payroll Card Accounts (12 CFR 1005.18(c))
A-8 Model Clause for Electronic Collection of Returned Item Fees (12 CFR 1005.3(b)(3))
A-9 Model Consent Form for Overdraft Services (12 CFR 1005.17)

2. Through discussions with management and review of available information, determine whether the financial institution’s internal controls are adequate to ensure compliance in Regulation E area under review. Consider the following:
   a. Organization charts;
   b. Process flowcharts;
   c. Policies and procedures;
   d. Account documentation;
   e. Checklists; and
   f. Computer program documentation.

3. Through a review of the financial institution’s training materials, determine whether:
   a. The financial institution provides appropriate training to individuals responsible for Regulation E compliance and operational procedures.
   b. The training is comprehensive and covers the various aspects of Regulation E that apply to the individual financial institution’s product offerings and operations.

4. Through discussions with management and review of available information, determine whether the financial institution’s Overdraft Protection Program has incorporated any guidance issued by its agency, as applicable. In addition to ATM and one time debit card transactions, consider other types of transactions as well. Consider the institution’s contravention of the guidance when assessing the institution’s compliance management system and in determining the overall compliance rating.
Transaction-Related Examination Procedures

If upon conclusion of the management and policy-related examination procedures, you note procedural weaknesses or other risks requiring further investigation, conduct transaction testing, as necessary, using the following examination procedures. Use your judgment in deciding the size of each sample of deposit account disclosures, notices, and advertisements. Increase the sample size until you are confident you have sufficiently reviewed all aspects of the financial institution’s activities and policies subject to the regulation.

1. Obtain and review copies of the following:
   a. Disclosure forms;
   b. Advertising and scripts for overdraft opt-ins;
   c. Account agreements;
   d. Procedural manuals and written policies;
   e. Merchant agreements;
   f. Automated teller machine receipts and periodic statements;
   g. Error resolution statements/files;
   h. Form letters used in case of errors or questions concerning an account;
   i. Any agreements with third parties allocating compliance responsibilities; and
   j. Consumer complaint files.

2. Determine the extent and adequacy of the financial institution’s policies, procedures, and practices for ensuring compliance with the regulation. In particular, verify that:
   a. Access devices are issued in compliance with the regulation (12 CFR 1005.5(b)).
   b. Required disclosures are given at time the account is opened or prior to the first EFT (12 CFR 1005.4 and 1005.7(c)).
   c. Unauthorized transfer claims are processed in compliance with the regulation (12 CFR 1005.6 and 1005.11).
   d. Liability for unauthorized transfer claims is assessed in compliance with the regulation (12 CFR 1005.6).
   e. Negligence is not a factor in determining customer liability. The deposit agreement may not impose greater liability than Regulation E provides but may provide for less consumer liability (12 CFR 1005.6).
   f. Preauthorized debits and credits comply with the regulation (12 CFR 1005.10).
3. If the financial institution has changed the terms or conditions since the last examination that required a written notice to the customer, determine that the institution provided the proper notice in a timely manner (12 CFR 1005.8(a)).

4. Review a sample of periodic statements to determine that they contain sufficient information for the consumer to identify transactions adequately and that they otherwise comply with regulatory requirements (12 CFR 1005.9).

5. Verify that the financial institution does not require compulsory use of EFTs, except as authorized (12 CFR 1005.10(e)).

6. Review documents relating to a sample of unauthorized transfers, lost or stolen ATM cards, and EFT consumer complaints, and their respective periodic statements. During this review:
   a. Evaluate the financial institution’s compliance with its error resolution procedures to isolate any apparent deficiencies in the financial institution’s operations and to ensure that the institution follows its policies for unauthorized transfers (12 CFR 1005.6 and 1005.11).
   b. Determine whether the financial institution investigates alleged errors and notifies consumers of the results within allotted time frames and, when appropriate, provisionally re-credits the account (12 CFR 1005.11(c)).
   c. Verify that the financial institution follows regulatory procedures after it completes its investigation and determines either that an error occurred (12 CFR 1005.11(c)(1)) or that no error occurred (12 CFR 1005.11(d)).

7. Review a periodic statement for each type of account in which electronic fund transfers occur to make sure that the statements comply with the requirements of the regulation (12 CFR 1005.9(b)).

8. Review ATM and point-of-sale transfer receipts to determine whether they provide a clear description of the transaction (12 CFR 1005.9(a)).

9. Determine that the financial institution is maintaining records of compliance for a period of not less than two years from the date disclosures are required to be made or action is required to be taken (12 CFR 1005.13(b)).
10. If the financial institution maintains payroll card accounts, review a sample of the payroll card accounts. If the financial institution does not provide periodic statements under 12 CFR 1005.9(b) for these accounts, verify that the institution makes available the account balance by telephone, an electronic history of account transactions, and (upon request) a written history of account transactions (12 CFR 1005.18(b)).

[Click&type]

11. If the financial institution maintains payroll card accounts, verify that the financial institution complies with the modified requirements with respect to the required initial disclosures, error resolution notices, limitations on liability, and error resolution procedures (12 CFR 1005.18(c)).

[Click&type]

12. If the financial institution operates one or more ATMs for which it charges a fee for use, determine that the financial institution provides notice of the fee and the amount of the fee both on the machine and on the screen or paper before the consumer is committed to paying the fee (12 CFR 1005.16).

[Click&type]

13. Determine that the financial institution holding a consumer’s account does not assess a fee or charge on a consumer’s account for paying an ATM or one-time debit card transaction pursuant to the institution’s overdraft service, unless the institution: 12 CFR 1005.17(b)(1)

- Provides the consumer with a notice in writing (or if the consumer agrees, electronically), that is segregated from all other information and describes the institution’s overdraft service;

- Provides a reasonable opportunity for the consumer to affirmatively consent, or opt in, to the service for ATM and one-time debit card transactions;

- Obtains the consumer’s affirmative consent, or opt-in, to the institution’s payment of ATM or one-time debit card transactions; and

- Provides the consumer with confirmation of the consumer’s consent in writing (or if the consumer agrees, electronically), which includes a statement informing the consumer of the right to revoke such consent.

An institution does not have to meet the notice requirements described above if it has a policy and practice of declining to authorize and pay any ATM or one-time debit card transactions when it has a reasonable belief at the time of 2 The term “overdraft service” means a service under which a financial institution assesses a fee or charge on a consumer's account held by the institution for paying a transaction (including a check or other item) when the consumer has insufficient or unavailable funds in the account. 12 CFR 1005.17(a). “Overdraft service” does not include a service that transfers funds from another account held by a consumer or a line of credit.

NOTE: This section became mandatory on July 1, 2010. However, for accounts opened before July 1, the section became mandatory on August 15, 2010. (12 CFR 1005.17(c)).

13A. Determine that in assessing overdraft fees for consumers who have not opted in, the institution charges fees only for negative balances, daily, or sustained overdraft, or similar fees, when the negative balance is attributable in whole or in part to checks, ACH or other transactions not subject to the fee prohibition, and the fee is assessed based on the date when the check is paid into overdraft, not the date of the ATM or one-time debit transaction. (Comment 1005.17(b)-9).

14. Determine that the financial institution does not: 12 CFR 1005.17(b)(2)

- Condition the payment of any overdrafts for checks, ACH transactions, and other types of transactions on the consumer affirmatively consenting to the institution’s payment of ATM and one-time debit card transactions pursuant to the institution's overdraft service; or

- Decline to pay checks, ACH transactions, and other types of transactions that overdraw the consumer's account because the consumer has not affirmatively consented to the institution's overdraft service for ATM and one-time debit card transactions.

15. Determine that the financial institution provides to consumers who do not affirmatively consent to the institution’s overdraft service for ATM and one-time debit card transactions the same account terms, conditions, and features that it provides to consumers who affirmatively consent, except for the overdraft service for ATM and one-time debit card transactions. 12 CFR 1005.17(b)(3).

16. Ensure that the notice required by 12 CFR 1005.17(b)(1)(i) is substantially similar to Model Form A–9, includes all applicable items in the following list, and does not contain any additional information: 12 CFR 1005.17(d) and Comments 1005.17(d)-1 through 1005.17(d)-5.
Overdraft service. A brief description of the financial institution’s overdraft service and the types of transactions for which a fee or charge for paying an overdraft may be imposed, including ATM and one-time debit card transactions.

Fees imposed. The dollar amount of any fees or charges assessed by the financial institution for paying an ATM or one-time debit card transaction pursuant to the institution’s overdraft service, including any daily or other overdraft fees. If the amount of the fee is determined on the basis of the number of times the consumer has overdrawn the account, the amount of the overdraft, or other factors, the institution must disclose the maximum fee that may be imposed.

Limits on fees charged. The maximum number of overdraft fees or charges that may be assessed per day, or, if applicable, that there is no limit.

Disclosure of opt-in right. An explanation of the consumer’s right to affirmatively consent to the financial institution’s payment of overdrafts for ATM and one-time debit card transactions pursuant to the institution’s overdraft service, including the methods by which the consumer may consent to the service; and Alternative plans for covering overdrafts. If the institution offers both a line of credit subject to Regulation Z (12 CFR Part 1026) and a service that transfers funds from another account of the consumer held at the institution to cover overdrafts, the institution must state in its opt-in notice that both alternative plans are offered. If the institution offers one, but not the other, it must state in its opt-in notice the alternative plan that it offers. If the institution does not offer either plan, it should omit the reference to the alternative plans. If the financial institution offers additional alternatives for paying overdrafts, it may (but is not required to) disclose those alternatives.

Permitted modifications and additional content. If applicable, the institution may modify the content required by 12 CFR 1005.17(d) to indicate that the consumer has the right to opt into, or opt out of, the payment of overdrafts under the institution’s overdraft service for other types of transactions, such as checks, ACH transactions, or automatic bill payments; to provide a means for the consumer to exercise this choice; and to disclose the associated returned item fee and that additional merchant fees may apply. The institution may also disclose the consumer’s right to revoke consent. The response portion of Model Form A-9 may be tailored to the methods offered for opting in, and may include reasonable methods to identify the account, such as a bar code. For notices provided to consumers who opened accounts prior to July 1, 2010, the financial institution may describe the institution’s overdraft service with respect to ATM and one-time debit card transactions with a statement such as “After August 15, 2010, we will not authorize and pay overdrafts for the following types of transactions unless you ask us to (see below).”
17. Determine that, when two or more consumers jointly hold an account, the financial institution treats the affirmative consent of any of the joint consumers as affirmative consent for that account, and treats a revocation of affirmative consent by any of the joint consumers as revocation of consent for that account. 12 CFR 1005.17(e).

18. Ensure that a consumer may affirmatively consent to the financial institution's overdraft service at any time in the manner described in the institution's 12 CFR 1005.17(b)(1)(i) notice, and that a consumer may also revoke consent at any time in the manner made available to the consumer for providing consent. 12 CFR 1005.17(f).

19. Determine that the financial institution implements a consumer's revocation of consent as soon as reasonably practicable. 12 CFR 1005.17(f).

20. Determine that a consumer’s affirmative consent to the institution's overdraft service is effective until revoked by the consumer, or until the financial institution terminates the service. 12 CFR 1005.17(g).

21. Determine that gift card disclosures (made under 12 CFR 1005.20 of Regulation E) are clear and conspicuous. 12 CFR 1005.20(c)(1) Further determine that the disclosures are provided to the consumer in a retainable written or electronic form. Only disclosures provided under 12 CFR 1005.20(c)(3) (prior to purchase of a gift certificate, store gift card or general-use prepaid card) [or 12 CFR 1005.20(h)(2), if applicable\(^3\)] may be given orally. 12 CFR 1005.20(c)(2).

NOTE: as explained by the rulemaking’s prefatory material, permitting oral disclosures is necessary in limited circumstances where disclosures cannot be made prior to purchase unless made orally, such as when a certificate or card is purchased by telephone. Though disclosures required to be made prior to purchase can be made orally, the rule still requires written or electronic disclosures to be provided on or with the certificate or card.

\(^3\) Section 1005.20(h)(2) allows a delayed effective date – until January 31, 2011 – for disclosures on the card for gift cards that were produced before April 1, 2010. Throughout the remainder of the examination procedures, such sections are denoted by a triple asterisk ***.
22. Determine that the disclosures required by:
   - 12 CFR 1005.20(a)(4)(iii) (loyalty, award, or promotional gift card);
   - 12 CFR 1005.20(d)(2) (dormancy, inactivity, or service fees);
   - 12 CFR 1005.20(e)(3) (expiration date or phone and web regarding replacement); and
   - 12 CFR 1005.20(f)(2) (phone and web regarding fees), are made on the certificate or card, or in the case of a loyalty, award, or promotional gift card, on the card, code, or other device.

   NOTE: A disclosure made in an accompanying terms and conditions document, on packaging surrounding a certificate or card, or on a sticker or other label affixed to the certificate or card does not constitute a disclosure on the certificate or card.

   If the certificate or card is electronic, determine that disclosures are provided electronically on the certificate or card provided to the consumer.

   If an issuer provides a code or confirmation to a consumer orally, determine that the issuer provides to the consumer a written or electronic copy of the code or confirmation promptly, and the applicable disclosures are provided on the written copy of the code or confirmation. 12 CFR 1005.20(c)(4).

23. Determine that the following are stated, as applicable, clearly and conspicuously on the gift certificate, store gift card, or general-use prepaid card:
   - The amount of any dormancy, inactivity, or service fee that may be charged;
   - How often such fee may be assessed; and
   - That such fee may be assessed for inactivity. 12 CFR 1005.20(d)(2).

24. Determine that the following disclosures are provided in connection with a gift certificate, store gift card, or general-use prepaid card as applicable: ***
   - For each type of fee that may be imposed in connection with the certificate or card (other than a dormancy, inactivity, or service fee, which are discussed above) the following information must be provided on or with the certificate or card: 12 CFR 1005.20(f)(1).
     o The type of fee;
     o The amount of the fee (or an explanation of how the fee will be determined); and o The conditions under which the fee may be imposed.
   - A toll-free telephone number and, if one is maintained, a website, that a the consumer may use to obtain information about fees described in paragraphs 12 CFR 1005.20(d)(2) and 12 CFR 1005.20(f)(1) (described immediately above) of this section must be disclosed on the certificate or card. 12 CFR 1005.20(f)(2).

25. If an expiration date applies to a certificate or card, determine that the following disclosures are provided on the certificate or card, as applicable:

- The expiration date for the underlying funds or, if the underlying funds do not expire, that fact;
- A toll-free telephone number and, if one is maintained, a website that a consumer may use to obtain a replacement certificate or card after the certificate or card expires if the underlying funds may be available; and
- Except where a non-reloadable certificate or card bears an expiration date that is at least seven years from the date of manufacture, a statement, disclosed with equal prominence and in close proximity to the certificate or card expiration date, that:
  - The certificate or card expires, but the underlying funds either do not expire or expire later than the certificate or card, and
- The consumer may contact the issuer for a replacement card. 12 CFR 1005.20(e)(3).

26. Determine that a loyalty, award, or promotional gift card sold or issued by the examined institution sets forth the following disclosures, as applicable:

12 CFR 1005.20(a)(4)(iii)

- A statement on the front of the card, code, or other device, indicating that the card, code, or other device is issued for loyalty, award, or promotional purposes;
- The expiration date for the underlying funds on the front of the card, code, or other device;
- The amount of any fees that may be imposed in connection with the card, code, or other device, and the conditions under which they may be imposed. This disclosure must be provided on or with the card, code, or other device; and
- A toll-free telephone number and, if one is maintained, a website that a consumer may use to obtain fee information on the card, code, or other device.
27. Determine that a person (examined institution) that issues or sells a gift certificate, store gift card, or general-use prepaid card discloses to the consumer, prior to purchase, the information required by 12 CFR 1005.20(d)(2) (dormancy, inactivity, or service fees), 12 CFR 1005.20(e)(3) (expiration date or phone and web regarding replacement), and 12 CFR 1005.20(f)(1) (other fees). 12 CFR 1005.20(c)(3).

28. Determine that the fees and terms and conditions of expiration that are required to be disclosed prior to purchase are not changed after purchase. 12 CFR 1005.20(c)(3). ***

[CClick&type]

29. Determine that no person (examined institution) imposes a dormancy, inactivity, or service fee with respect to a gift certificate, store gift card, or general-use prepaid card, unless: 12 CFR 1005.20(d).

- There has been no activity with respect to the certificate or card, in the one year period ending on the date on which the fee is imposed;
- Required disclosures are provided;
- Not more than one dormancy, inactivity, or service fee is imposed in any given calendar month.

[CClick&type]

30. Determine that the person (examined institution) does not sell or issue a gift certificate, store gift card, or general-use prepaid card with an expiration date unless: 12 CFR 1005.20(e). ***

- Required expiration date disclosures are provided on the certificate or card, as applicable;
- It has established policies and procedures to provide consumers with a reasonable opportunity to purchase a certificate or card with at least five years remaining until the certificate or card expiration date;
- The expiration date for the underlying funds is at least the later of:
  - Five years after the date the gift certificate was initially issued, or the date on which funds were last loaded to a store gift card or general-use prepaid card; or
  - The certificate or card expiration date, if any; and
- No fee or charge is imposed on the cardholder for replacing the gift certificate, store gift card, or general-use prepaid card or for providing the certificate or card holder with the remaining balance in some other manner prior to the funds expiration date, unless such certificate or card has been lost or stolen.
31. For cards produced prior to April 1, 2010, 12 CFR 1005.20 (c)(3), (d)(2), (e)(1), (e)(3), and (f) did not apply until January 31, 2011, if certain conditions were met. If applicable, determine that the issuer:

- Complies with all other non-suspended provisions of the gift card rules;
- Does not impose an expiration date with respect to the funds underlying such certificate or card and, at the consumer’s request, replaces such certificate or card if it has funds remaining, at no cost to the consumer;
- Discloses through in-store signage, messages during customer service calls, websites, and general advertising, that:
  - The underlying funds of such certificate or card do not expire;
  - Consumers holding such certificate or card have a right to a free replacement certificate or card, accompanied by the packaging and materials typically associated with such certificate or card; and
  - Any dormancy, inactivity, or service fee for such certificate or card that might otherwise be charged will not be charged if such fees do not comply with Section 915 of the Electronic Fund Transfer Act.

Determine that the above disclosures (i) were provided until January 31, 2011, with respect to in-store signage and general advertising, (ii) and are provided until January 31, 2013, with respect to messages during customer service calls and websites.

(12 CFR 1005.20(e)(4)).

69. Are the following disclosures provided in connection with a gift certificate, store gift card, or general-use prepaid card, as applicable: ***

• For each type of fee that may be imposed in connection with the gift certificate or card (other than a dormancy, inactivity, or service fee subject to the disclosure requirements under (12 CFR 1005.20(d)(2)), the following information must be provided on or with the certificate or card:
  o The type of fee (12 CFR 1005.20(f)(1)(i)); o The amount of the fee (or an explanation of how the fee will be determined) (12 CFR 1005.20(f)(1)(ii)); and o The conditions under which the fee may be imposed (12 CFR 1005.20(f)(1)(iii)).

• A toll-free telephone number and, if one is maintained, a website, that a consumer may use to obtain information about dormancy, inactivity, service, or each type of fee that may be imposed in connection with the certificate or card (12 CFR 1005.20(f)(2)).
For cards issued prior to April 1, 2010, 12 CFR 1005.20(c)(3), (d)(2), (e)(1), (e)(3), and (f) did not apply until January 31, 2011, if certain conditions were met. If applicable, determine that the issuer:

- Complies with all other non-suspended provisions of the gift card rules;
- Does not impose an expiration date with respect to the funds underlying such certificate or card and, at the consumer’s request, replaces such certificate or card if it has funds remaining, at no cost to the consumer;
- Discloses through in-store signage, messages during customer service calls, websites, and general advertising, that:
  - The underlying funds of such certificate or card do not expire;
  - Consumers holding such certificate or card have a right to a free replacement certificate or card, accompanied by the packaging and materials typically associated with such certificate or card; and
  - Any dormancy, inactivity, or service fee for such certificate or card that might otherwise be charged will not be charged if such fees do not comply with Section 915 of the Electronic Fund Transfer Act.
- Determine that the above disclosures (i) were provided until January 31, 2011, with respect to in-store signage and general advertising and (ii) are provided until January 31, 2013, with respect to messages during customer service calls and websites.
